

DUXBURY

Correspondent: Mrs. Pauline Pyle, 934-5062

Children's Art Exhibition Featured At Free Library

DUXBURY — The Children's Art Exhibition in the Helen Bumpus Gallery of the Duxbury Free Library features the art work of 57 Duxbury children from kindergarten age through Grade 6.

Children whose work is being exhibited through Jan. 7 are Robbie Aikens, Sarah Beeby, Maura and Stephanie Condrick, Catherine Fisher, Betsy and Paula Gibbons, Heather Keleher, Kathy Lang, Ben and Trip LeFevre, Eddie and Jimmy McShane, Melissa Maher, Mark Pagnano, Sarah Scott, and Dawn and Heather Sweetser.

Students of Janet Wheeler, art instructor in the Alden Street Elementary School, whose work is being displayed are Doug Aik-man, Joe Anastasi, Christina Arthur, Kathy Barnes, Oliver Brown, Linda Burke, Scott Eldridge, Denise Gordon, Paul Hansen, Mary Ellen Keating, Karen McCarthy, Mitch Mercier and Mark Roche.

From Mrs. Baker's kindergarten class are paintings by Gregory George, Robert Kearney, and Lee Loring. Kate Beeby, a student of Alice Ohanessian of the Intermediate School, and Kimberley Heath, a student of Georgia Blackmore's Art Association class are exhibiting work.

Students of Jeanne Wolfe, who teaches for the Duxbury Art Association, are Jamie Leitz and Richard Powers. Work is being shown by students of Susan Hall, who teaches privately. Her students are Tracy Barker, Marmie Bowman, Haley Clifford, Catherine and Lisa Daugherty, Kate and Vicky Hall, Linda Renner, Mary Sutton and Sarah Tenney.

Gay Yuse, Library Art Supervisor, has arranged the exhibition. Children who attended painting classes taught by Miss Yuse in the library basement are Ann and Mary Burchell, Eaily DeWire, Charles McCormick, Eileen Mahoney, Jennifer and Karl Neubauer, and Michael Sheehan.

DEC 27, 73
CHILDREN'S ART EXHIBIT

The Children's Art Exhibition in the Helen Bumpus Gallery of the Duxbury Free Library features the art work of 57 Duxbury children from kindergarten age through 6th grade.

Children's art on display at Bumpus Gallery

DUXBURY — The Children's Art Exhibition in the Helen Bumpus Gallery of the Duxbury Free Library features the art work of 57 Duxbury Children from kindergarten age through the sixth grade.

Children whose work is being exhibited through Jan. 7 are: Robbie Aikens, Sarah Beeby, Maura and Stephanie Condrick, Catherine Fisher, Betsey and Paula Gibbons, Heather Keleher, Kathy Lang, Ben and Trip LeFevre, Eddie and Jimmy McShane, Melissa Maher, Mark Pagnano, Sarah Stott and Dawn and Heather Sweetser.

Students of Janet Wheeler, art instructor in the Alden Street Elementary School, whose work is being displayed are Doug Aikman, Joe Anastasi, Christina Arthur, Kathy Barnes, Oliver Brown, Linda Burke, Scott Eldridge, Denise Gordon, Paul Hansen, Mary Ellen Keating, Karen McCarthy, Mitch Mercier and Mark Roche.

From Mrs. Baker's kindergarten class are paintings by Gregory George, Robert Kearney and Lee Loring. Kate Beeby, a student of Alice Ohanessian of the Intermediate School and Kimberley Heath, a student of Georgia Blackmore's Art Association class are exhibiting work.

Students of Jeanne Wolfe, who teaches for the Duxbury Art Association, are Jamie

Leitz and Richard Powers. Work is being shown by students of Susan Hall, who teaches privately. Her students are Tracy Barker, Marmie Bowman, Haley Clifford, Catherine and Lisa Daugherty, Kate and Vicky Hall, Linda Renner, Mary Sutton and Sarah Tenney.

Gay Yuse, library art supervisor, has arranged the exhibition. Children who attended painting classes taught by Miss Yuse in the library basement are: Ann and Mary Burchell, Eaily DeWire, Charles McCormick, Eileen Mahoney, Jennifer and Karl Neubauer, and Michael Sheehan.

OCM 12-27-73